About the Author

Paddy Dillon is a prolific outdoor writer with 40 books to his name, as well as a dozen booklets and brochures. He writes for a number of outdoor magazines and other publications, as well as producing materials for tourism groups and other organisations. He lives on the fringe of the Lake District, and has walked, and written about walking, in every county in England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales. He has walked in many parts of Europe, as well as Nepal, Tibet, Colorado and the Canadian Rockies.

While walking his routes, Paddy inputs his notes directly into a palm-top computer every few steps, making his descriptions accurate because written at the very point at which the reader uses them. He takes all his own photographs and often draws his own maps. He has appeared on television and is a member of the Outdoor Writers and Photographers Guild.

A CICERONE GUIDE by Paddy Dillon

Basking in sunshine, rising green and pleasant from the blue Atlantic Ocean, fringed by rugged cliffs and sandy beaches, the Isles of Scilly are a joy to explore. The isles reveal their charms to those who walk the headlands, sail from island to island, and take time to observe the sights, sounds and scents of the landscape.

- 11 walks on the main islands – and four boat trips to outlying islands
- routes illustrated with OS mapping
- background information on the history, geology and natural environment of the islands
- practical details of travel and accommodation
- fully updated third edition of this popular guide
